Medidress PERFECT Surgical gown

The Medidress Perfect surgical gowns are made of two types of fabrics: a light polyester fabric and a three-layer laminate in the critical zones of the product. The design of the gown allows it to be put on aseptically, and the long polyester cuffs fit tightly around the wrist. In addition, the cuff has a sewn-in loop to put on the finger, which prevents the sleeves from pulling up, which guarantees that the sleeve does not slip out from under the glove.
